'Incompetence' jibe at annual meeting

THERE was uproar at Newmarket town annual meeting as the mayor tried to close it after an hour in which council officials were accused of incompetence in their handling of controversial development plans.

The meeting was the best attended at Newmarket since the formation of the town council nine years ago.

BY John Goode

Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

More than 100 people, including some of the town's top racehorse trainers and other figures from the racing industry, packed the town's Memorial Hall in the High Street.

The meeting is an annual chance for residents to speak directly to councillors about local issues but some previous meetings have attracted just a handful of people.

But this year, the Save Historic Newmarket action group, headed by trainer's wife Rachel Hood, had tabled questions about a number of issues including The Gables scheme to build modern flats in the town's Bury Road – an issue which has already seen leaders of the town's racing community take part in a street protest.

An hour was allocated for the town meeting before the town council's own annual meeting at which the new mayor was to be elected.

At the end of the hour, Cllr Bill Burch, chairing his last meeting as mayor, said that there could be no further discussions as the town council was "legally bound" to hold its annual meeting as scheduled.

At the time top trainer Luca Cumani was trying to ask a question about plans for a revamp of the town's busy Clocktower road junction.

After protests from the residents, members of the town council withdrew to hold their own meeting upstairs while Forest Heath District councillors and officials continued to field questions.

David Burnip, the district council's chief executive, rejected the accusations of incompetence. He said council officials had done all they could to try to improve the appearance of the flats being built at The Gables.

The town councillors returned after about half an hour with newly-elected mayor Cllr Chris Turner explaining that they had cut short their session to do so.

Museum hopes for lots of interest in auction

TOP jockey Frankie Dettori has autographed a racing jacket and hat for a "silent auction" in aid of the National Horseracing Museum.

Bids for the Godolphin Racing clothing are being accepted now. But bidding will close at the museum's summer fete, on Saturday, July 12.

The fete will be opened by racing legend Lester Piggott, who is featured in a special exhibition at the museum in Newmarket High Street.

Graham Snelling, the museum curator and acting director, said: "We're grateful to Frankie and Ipswich Town for their support. We hope that a lot of money is raised for the museum."

Police warn elderly over suspicious phone calls

POLICE have warned people – particularly the elderly – to be on the alert after reports of suspicious, unsolicited telephone calls.

Two elderly women were contacted by phone, one of them in Lakenheath and the other in Stowmarket. In one case the caller was asking for an appointment to value possessions and the other was to discuss security. The callers asked personal questions and the pensioners were left distressed by the calls.

A Suffolk police spokeswoman said: "People are advised not to give personal details over the phone, and to hang up if you are unsure if the caller is genuine."

Anyone concerned about a suspicious call should contact Suffolk police on (01473) 613500, further advice can also be obtained from your local Crime Reduction Officer.

Support for charities in special visit

FORMER Conservative party leader Iain Duncan Smith spoke about his Centre for Social Justice when he visited two charities.

Mr Duncan Smith, MP for Chingford and Woodford, chatted to workers at the Ormiston Young People's Service and the Open Door charity for the homeless in Newmarket.

He was visiting the town to attend the West Suffolk Conservative Association's annual dinner at Tattersalls, the Newmarket-based racehorse auctioneers.

Mr Duncan Smith started the Centre for Social Justice – an all party organisation which helps to support locally-based charities – in 2004.

"My view is that this is more important than party politics," he said.

He spoke of the need for charities, like the Ormiston Trust, to be given funding for projects for more than a year.

"It is obviously a gem of an organisation and there is demand for more services like those that they offer," he said.

The Ormiston Trust's Newmarket-based workers help children and families over a wide area including parts of Cambridgeshire and Norfolk.

He is about to launch a new website www.effectivegiving.com to help direct funding to locally-based charities.

"Benefactors often don't know about local organisations they can give money to," he said.

The Ormiston Trust, based in Ipswich, has run a centre in Newmarket – in a former pub – since 1994 and has operated in the town since 1989.

At the Open Door's "charity superstore" in Newmarket he met John Durrant, a Labour member of Cambridge city council and the general manager of the organisation, as well as other workers with the organisation.

Cllr Durrant said: "As a small local charity we need all the support we can get."

Cambridge's Romsey Mill Trust is one of the organisations on the Centre for Social Justice's shortlist of charities being considered for a share of £50,000 in its annual awards scheme.

Spate of thefts

A PACK of 400 cigarettes and a handbag were among items stolen in a spate of thefts from parked cars.

Three cars were entered by thieves while they were parked in Newmarket.

The Benson and Hedges cigarettes were stolen from a silver-coloured Hyundai parked next to the horsewalk off Rayes Lane between 10.55am and 11am on Monday, May 19. On the same day, between 9am and 3.40pm, a white Vauxhall Astra parked near the Memorial Hall was entered and a child's blazer was stolen.

The following day a woman's pink handbag containing credit cards, a wedding ring and cash, was stolen from a grey Audi A4 parked in Adastral Close near a children's nursery between 10.25am to 10.30am.

Race to win

ENTRIES for a children's art contest to design the cover of the race card for the NSPCC's annual race day at Newmarket close on Friday, June 6.

There are two age categories and a top prize of a £50 WH Smith voucher.

The race day, which regularly raises thousands of pounds for the charity, will be on Saturday, July 26.

New chairman

EXNING and Newmarket councillor Bill Sadler has stood down as chairman of Suffolk County Council after a year in office.

He handed over the chain of office to Cllr Ann Rodwell at the council's annual meeting in Ipswich.

Cllr Rodwell, from Felixstowe, is fighting cancer which has been diagnosed as terminal. But she told the meeting: "I will be here in 12 months' time."

Factory plan views have not changed, says council

A BID to revive a controversial factory scheme is being opposed by town councillors.

They are insisting that developers replace trees and fencing taken down without consent last year.

Work on the factory was halted last year after people living on the nearby Studlands Park estate protested about the clearance of roadside trees in Studlands Park Avenue.

Forest Heath District Council stepped in because the developer, Parkway Construction MK, had not submitted a landscaping scheme before the work started, even though planning permission for the factory was granted in 2005.

BY John Goode

Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

The land owners, CI Industries, submitted a new plan earlier this year showing the factory further away from Studlands Park Avenue but it was turned down by district councillors against the advice of their planning experts who said it was acceptable.

Now the developers have told the district council they want to build the factory to the 2005 planning permission.

Newmarket Town Council has been asked for its views on the latest move and councillors have said they are insisting that the trees which were taken down be replaced.

Cllr Bill Burch, the mayor, told a meeting of the council's development and planning committee: "They contravened the law by taking down the trees and fence and we would ask for mature trees to be planted and the fence to be replaced before any further development takes place."

Cllr Mick Jefferys said: "We should make it clear that our views have not changed and place the highest priority on the landscaping which should be completed as agreed."

They were also concerned they could suffer from noise from the processes carried out in the factory – which currently does not have a specified use.

The land, which would have an access road from Oaks Drive, has been unused for around 20 years although it is zoned for industrial development.

'Incompetence' charge at meeting

The meeting concluded after more than two hours in which a range of issues was covered including the town's Market Square shop development, the mobile phone mast in Exning Road and proposals for an aircraft holding zone near the town.

Afterwards Fiona Unwin, a member of the Save Historic Newmarket group, said: "We feel we have a mandate from the people of Newmarket. We have unearthed a community spirit which wasn't there before."

She revealed that Highland, the developer behind The Gables scheme, had agreed to "tone down" some of the colouring planned for the new flats, and increase planting of trees and shrubs around the flats by 50 per cent.

"It shows that action – particularly direct action – works," she said.

Artists open studios

TEXTILE and jewellery artists will be opening their studios next month as part of a Suffolk-wide scheme.

The Suffolk Open Studios scheme will involve three people from the Newmarket area.

Kay Herbert, who makes jewellery, and Claire Turner, who works with textiles, will be opening their studios at 6 Armstrong Close, Newmarket, on two weekends – June 7 and 8 and 14 and 15.

Flowers and music

A FLOWER festival will be held at St Peter's Church, Stetchworth, on June 7 and 8.

Around 15 village organisations will be involved in the event which is being held for the first time in aid of the church.

The church will be open for the displays between 1pm and 5pm on the Saturday and from the 10am Sunday service.

A concert of Music for a Summer's Evening will be held in the church on Saturday at 7.30pm.

Tickets, price £3.50, can be booked in advance by calling (01638) 508105.

Ceremony honours American war dead

AMERICAN service personnel killed in the Second World War were honoured at the annual memorial service at Madingley on Monday.

The ceremony, at the cemetery where 3,812 US service personnel are buried, included wreath laying, a 21-gun salute and a flypast by aircraft from the US Air Force's 48th Fighter Wing at Lakenheath.

The cemetery is one of 14 American Second World War military cemetery memorials built outside the US by the American Battle Monument Commission.

It is the only permanent one in the British Isles and was dedicated in 1956.

It became a temporary military cemetery in 1944 on land donated by the University of Cambridge.

Derby theme at fete

FORMER Newmarket mayor Cllr Bill Burch will open the Woodditton Church Fete at midday on Saturday, June 7.

The fete, at Parsonage Farm, Little Ditton, will feature a Derby day theme with women invited to dress for the races and a prize for the best-dressed "jockey". There will also be a display by the Newmarket School of Dance.

Prom fun for students

Former council homes plan set for approval

CONTROVERSIAL plans to redevelop former council houses are set to be given the go-ahead – despite objections from former tenants who have bought their homes.

BY John Goode

Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

Kings Forest Housing, which took over all of Forest Heath District Council's housing stock in 2004, wants to knock down existing houses in Charles Close, Newmarket, and build more on the same land.

But a handful of people that own their homes have complained that they could find themselves living in the middle of a building site while the work goes on around them.

They have also complained that they were not fully consulted about the scheme which, they said, would cause parking problems in the close.

Forest Heath District Council put off a decision about the £3.1 million scheme in January to get more information about the impact it would have on the owner-occupiers.

But district council planners are sticking to their previous recommendation that the scheme should be approved.

Kings Forest wants to knock down 20 houses and flats in the close and build 27 new homes which would include bungalows and flats. The scheme would leave 12 of the existing homes – some of which are occupied by housing association tenants and others are owned by former tenants.

The housing association has said the 50-year-old homes are in need of replacement with more modern properties.

A report to the district council's planning committee, which meets this week, says that Kings Forest have changed the layout of the scheme and have provided an additional five parking spaces near the houses which will remain.

The report, by district council planner Les Mitchell, said: "The development proposed would provide high quality affordable housing."

He said the housing association had agreed to restrict the working hours of builders working on the scheme to reduce disturbance for the remaining residents.

They had asked for a ban on weekend building work and no work after 5pm.

Headteacher cracks over egg safety rules

WHICH came first? The chicken, the egg or the health and safety expert?

An award-winning headteacher has abandoned plans to show children how an egg hatches after he got tangled up in health and safety red tape.

Kevin Bullock, head of Fordham Primary School and a national education adviser, said the incident was just an illustration of the type of bureaucracy which is driving headteachers out of the profession.

Mr Bullock said one of his teachers, Jean Williams, had the idea of bringing in an incubator so that the seven-year-olds in her classes could watch a chick hatching from an egg.

Mr Bullock said: "Her enthusiasm was infectious. It was a great opportunity to allow the children to observe such life processes first-hand. However, it wasn't so much an egg in a box that transpired as egg on our faces – after an encounter with the health and safety man."

BY John Goode
Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

The school had to answer a long list of questions after Mr Bullock contacted health and safety experts at Cambridgeshire County Council.

The school was asked:

- Can you guarantee the exact source of the eggs?
- Are they from certified salmonella-free birds?
- Will children touch the eggs?
- Has the incubator been appliance tested and does it have a current test certificate?
- What's the protocol regarding school holidays and weekends?
- How long will the appliance be used for?
- Do you intend to keep the incubator in school until the eggs are hatched and then take the chicks home?
- Or do you intend to take the incubator and eggs home before they've actually hatched?

Mr Bullock was told biological, electrical, child and teacher risk-assessments would also have to be carried out.

■ RIDICULOUS . . . Kevin Bullock faced a long list of health and safety questions.

The list of requirements exhausted the teacher's enthusiasm for the exciting project.

Mr Bullock explained: "It's all very well for the Government and media to mock fears that schools have over health and safety issues. But as a head trying to manoeuvre a school through our topsy-turvy, politically correct, compensation conscious society – you should try living in my shoes.

"Children are only wrapped up in cotton wool because a minority of parents are wrapped up in getting compensation windfalls.

"However, to highlight that I am still a risk-taking, maverick headteacher, I'm delighted to say that I will be allowing snowball fights in my school this year – but only in the summer term!"

He said he was not blaming the county education authority or any individual for stopping the children's chance to see an egg hatch.

He said: "It just shows what a ridiculous society we're living in."

A Cambridgeshire County Council spokesman said that their health and safety advisers were unaware of the problem.

"There are health and safety issues, but they are quite easy to overcome," he said.

Man charged after death

A MAN has been charged with illegally supplying drugs following the death of a woman.

Damien Jared, 34, is accused of supplying methadone, a heroin substitute, on December 29 contrary to the Misuse of Drugs Act.

The charge follows the death of Eileen Conlon, 37. She was found dead at her home in Periman Close, off Howard de Walden Way, Newmarket, from a suspected drug overdose.

Jared was charged by the police on Tuesday and is due to appear before magistrates at Bury St Edmunds on Thursday, June 5.

He is also charged with shoplifting at the BP filling station in Newmarket on May 11 and illegal possession of cannabis.

Cycle stolen

The red and black bike was stolen on Friday night. Police have said they do not believe the incident is connected with the theft of a Harley-Davidson motorcycle from another garage in the village.

£37,000 car written off by drink-driver

A HIGH-FLYING salesman wrote off his prized £37,000 sports car in a spectacular crash as he attempted to drive home from the pub.

But there was worse to come for Lee Desborough after he crashed his silver BMW M3 convertible upside-down into a ditch near the A10 roundabout, near Ely, on May 10.

The 37 year old, who was driving home to Soham after an evening of drinking with a friend in Ely, was more than twice the legal drink-drive limit when breathalysed by police at the crash scene.

He has now been banned from driving for 20 months after pleading guilty at Ely Magistrates' Court to drink driving. Tests showed he had 72 micrograms of alcohol in 100 millilitres of breath. The limit is 35 micrograms.

BY Jack Grove
Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

The court heard that the driving ban is likely to cost him his sales job with computer firm Sun Microsystems, for whom he travels more than 20,000 miles a year.

It could also lead to financial ruin for Desborough, who is married with three young children, as he would struggle to pay his £900-a-month mortgage repayments.

His motor insurance will also not cover the damage to his sports car, which was a write-off, because he was convicted of drink-driving. He spent nearly all his savings on the lavish motor, which did 0-60mph in 5.2 seconds.

But Hamish Ross, presiding magistrate, had little sympathy for Desborough as he handed him a driving ban.

He said: "It was a deliberate risk you took – you were twice over the limit. You went into a ditch upside-down, so one must question the competency of your driving.

"You have a potentially glittering career and were a role model for others. You were the young blade in your business.

"It may now seem like a house of dominos and everything is falling down about your ears.

"But you made the choice. This is a message to everyone: if you make the wrong choice, you must stand up and be counted.

"You made a decision and you will have to accept the consequences."

The defendant had claimed he had intended to take a taxi home, but could not get one, so decided to drive himself instead.

Desborough, of Hall Street, Soham, was handed a £600 fine and ordered to pay a £15 victim impact surcharge.

Theft bid fails

AN unsuccessful attempt was made to break into a lorry trailer while it was parked overnight in a lay-by on the A14.

Earlier this month boilers worth around £24,000 were stolen from a lorry parked overnight in the same area.

The latest incident happened on the A14 at Exning between 7.30pm on Thursday, May 15, and 5am the following day. The trailer of the white articulated lorry was damaged but nothing was stolen.

Anyone with information should call Pc Lee Sampher at the Newmarket North Safer Neighbourhood Team on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

More useful to deal with speeding drivers than parking

Sir, I see some councillor has convinced the Mildenhall police they have nothing better to do than raise revenue by taxing people parking on one side of the two-lane one-way street outside Sainsburys, or outside the bank in the three lanes of the high street.

May I suggest something more useful for them?

The 80mph driver in Comet Way, on the wrong side of the road as he sped past the kids' playground would be a good start; the drivers who caused my wife, son and his friend to leap for their lives in the cul-de-sac of Oxford Close; the 70mph-plus idiots who pass by the entrance to Riverside (and have caused an accident every six months since I've lived here) might be a more useful arrest.

Carnival fun but without the sun

The day started with a colourful parade through the town's streets on Monday, which was led by parade princess Summer Locke, nine, and her two attendants, seven-year-old Natasha Shorne and Chloe Kay, eight. The Soham girls waved to crowds from their open-top car before entering the carnival show at the town's recreation ground, where the star attraction was daredevil biker Jason Smyth.

Julie Webb, a member of the Soham Community Hall Trust, whose float won third prize, said: "It was very blowy during the parade, but thankfully the rain held off until later.

"There was still plenty of people enjoying the stalls and attractions – even when it was raining. It was a terrific day and a real credit to the organisers."

Other attractions included the famous heavy horse show, live music, vintage vehicle displays and performances from the Soham Fenlander Majorette cheerleaders.

Brandon victory in Snailwell Cup

THE final of the Snailwell Cup was well supported and several hundred pounds were raised for local charities.

Brandon Town, 2007 Cup winners held onto to the trophy for another year after running out 2-0 winners against a very determined West Wratting team who had themselves won the competition in 2006.

Cheered on by an enthusiastic crowd both teams played out a goalless first half with West Wratting having the greater share of the ball but unable to convert their possession into goals.

Brandon came out better organised in the second half and after 10 minutes Sean Brown broke the deadlock with a header from a Mark Winstone free kick to make it 1-0 to the Cup holders.

The match remained well balanced and competitive throughout and as West Wratting continued to chase the equaliser with just a few minutes remaining Man of the Match, Kevin Sobiechowski, intercepted a pass on the edge of the West Wratting box and keeping a cool head slotted home the decisive second goal to seal victory for Brandon Town.

Depot application

ROADS contractor Atkins has applied for planning permission to keep its depot just off the A11 at Barton Mills for another seven years.

The depot at Bay Quarry was set up in 2002 for a temporary period which is due to expire in July.

Now the company, which carries out work on the A11, A14 and M11 roads, has applied to Forest Heath District Council to keep it in operation until July 2015.

The depot operates 24 hours a day and workers can be called to make urgent repairs after crashes as well as routine road maintenance.

New gallery gives last village bus honourable resting place

THE FINAL resting place for a village bus has been officially opened.

The Vintage Vehicle Gallery is the latest project at Burwell Museum which has been run by volunteers since 1982.

The building will be the home for the last remaining Burwell Bus which has been taken off the road due to the cost of complying with modern regulations and insurance.

The bus, about 50 years old, used to operate services from the village until the 1970s.

Other vintage vehicles with historical links to the area will also go in the building as the displays are completed this year.

Hospital staff's charity hopes are sky high

The six colleagues at Beech House, a hospital for people with learning disabilities and other mental health problems, in Fordham Road, Newmarket, decided to raise money for the unit at West Suffolk Hospital, Bury St Edmunds, after another member of staff lost a child.

Beech House has given £1,000 to cover the cost of making the skydive at the Chatteris parachute centre, so any money raised will go to the baby unit.

Anyone wanting to make a donation or sponsor the group should call Sue Lea on (07921) 066077.

Decision to be made on the future of trees

A ROW over trees which were cut down by developers was expected to come to a head this week.

Councillors were being asked to approve the felling of nine trees on land off Newmarket's Fordham Road although work has already been carried out to cut down another nine trees which have been categorised as "dead, dying or diseased".

Developers Swallowmead and Freshwater Estates originally asked for permission to take down 30 trees and cut branches off another seven.

People living nearby were alarmed when contractors with chainsaws started

Two local councillors, together with council officials, intervened and spoke to representatives of the developers. But the work continued.

Newmarket Town Council "objected strongly" to the removal of the trees and more than a dozen residents wrote to the council to object.

The residents argued that the removal of the trees would damage the character of the area and harm an important tree-lined entrance to Newmarket. They also complained that work had started before permission had been given to cut down trees, which are the subject of a preservation order.

An application to demolish the two houses on the one-acre site and replace them with nine detached houses was refused in January on the grounds of the loss of trees and an "unacceptable form of development".

But previous planning applications for up to 10 homes on the site have been approved.

Now Forest Heath District Council's planning committee was to be asked to rule on the future of nine of the trees at its meeting this week.

Planning officers were recommending that approval was given for the removal of the trees.

In a report to the committee, planning officer Rachel Almond said the developers had said they could re-apply for the removal of other trees in the future.

Part of the site includes the former home of record-breaking pilot Alex Henshaw, who died more than a year ago aged 94.

He set a pre-war record which still stands for flying from Britain to South Africa and back in a single-engined Percival Mew Gull.

THE desire to raise happy children is a given for all parents. However, happiness is not something that can be given but must be found.

Health, confidence and resilience are the main building blocks for happiness down the line. Parents can certainly assist in helping children on the right road to happiness.

Health and energy to engage in various different activities make children happy as does confidence. The confidence to try different things, make new friends and take things on the chin.

It is important to raise kids who can cope with plans that may alter. Although everyone's definition of happiness differs greatly these are a few of the underlying themes which can make up the concept itself.

Pets at forefront of specialist care

VETS in Newmarket have spent £550,000 on a magnetic resonance imaging (MRI) scanner to improve animal care.

Dick White Referrals treats domestic pets sent to the centre by vets from across the UK who want to be able to provide advanced levels of specialist care.

The scanner will help in spotting and treating conditions such as brain tumours, epilepsy and meningitis, and the oncology service, which provides cancer management for dogs and cats.

The investment is part of a major expansion strategy which has seen Dick White Referrals add an intensive care unit, new wards and imaging centre to its facilities during the last 12 months, with more to come.

Opened by former Cambridge University lecturer in small animal surgery, Prof Dick White, in 2003, the centre now employs a 50-strong team providing 24-hour on-site care for the 2,000 animals treated each year.

Prof White said: "Owners are increasingly looking for specialist treatments for their pets but many vets are unable to provide the services needed, prompting our decision to continue extension of our range of specialist facilities.

"The new MRI scanner is a crucial advanced diagnostic tool which will be used by the team to identify a range of life-threatening conditions as early as possible."

The new equipment has been bought using asset based lending (ABL) facilities provided by Lloyds TSB Commercial Finance.

Hospital parking charges net £250,000 in a month

ADDENBROOKE'S Hospital made nearly £250,000 from parking charges in one month after increasing fees for patients, visitors and staff by up to 36 per cent.

The NHS hospital in Cambridge raked in £248,323 from parking fees in April, the first month in which increases applied.

One outraged councillor described the figures, obtained by our sister paper, the Cambridge Evening News under the Freedom of Information Act, as being "against the whole ethos of the NHS".

If parking income continues at the same level for the rest of the 2008/09 financial year, Addenbrooke's will make £2.98 million out of it.

The foundation trust already makes more money from parking charges than any other hospital in the UK, bringing in £2.56 million in 2007/08.

Alongside the new charges, April saw the opening of the hospital's new £11.5 million multi-storey car park, operated under a contract between Addenbrooke's and private company NCP.

BY John Morgan
Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

Addenbrooke's insists all money raised by parking charges is reinvested in providing safe car parks and without charges, funding for patients and staff would be diverted to parking.

But Cllr Geoff Heathcock, Liberal Democrat spokesman for health on Cambridgeshire County Council, said: "In many cases, staff and patients have no alternative but to bring a vehicle. And they are being absolutely fleeced.

"It goes against the whole ethos of the NHS. The hospital is there to provide a service."

As a foundation trust, Addenbrooke's owns its assets independently of the Government and can enter into external contracts with private companies.

Cllr Heathcock said: "It is an independent hospital, so they have free rein to do what they like. Nobody, but nobody, is in a position to go to a Government minister and complain."

Outpatients at Addenbrooke's now pay £3 for one day, visitors pay £15 to park for more than eight hours and staff pay £2 a day.

■ ANGRY . . . Cllr Geoff Heathcock says staff and patients are being fleeced.

Of April's income, £159,344 came from patients and visitors, while £88,979 came from staff.

Michael Summers, vice-chairman of the Patients' Association, said: "It really is disgraceful that hospitals feel they can make money out of patients, their families and staff.

"They pay private companies vast fees instead of organising it in a way that savings could be made."

An Addenbrooke's spokesman said: "The income generated from car parking charges allows us to provide a high-quality parking service on site for people who really need it.

"All the car parks on site are self-funding, which means that no money intended for patient care is spent on parking."

The spokesman added that the hospital has a long-term travel plan encouraging the use of alternative means of transport.

The News asked Addenbrooke's to reveal the value of its contract with NCP. But the hospital refused to release the information, saying it could "damage good commercial relations with the private company" and "affect the private company's commercial interests".

Rogue traders beware

HUNDREDS of people were given spot checks in one day as police in Cambridgeshire launched a crackdown on rogue traders.

Police and partner agencies took to the streets of the county in a bid to tackle tricksters who prey on the vulnerable.

They stop-checked about 400 people last Wednesday, accompanied by officers from trading standards, councils, the Environment Agency and HM Revenue and Customs.

The move was launched to target known "hot-spots" for the crime as part of a national day of action.

Cambridge, Ely, Sawston, St Neots, St Ives, Huntingdon, Eye, Wisbech and Peterborough were covered by Operation Rogue Trader.

There have been 19 rogue trading incidents in the county so far this year, involving the loss of £50,000.

No arrests were made during the crackdown but trading standards offences were uncovered, property seized and intelligence gathered.

If you suspect rogue trading, ring trading standards on 0845 0455206 or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555111.

Experts' bid to fight killer disease

In our weekly column, reporter JOHN GOODE takes a look behind the racing scene to bring you news from in and around the stables.

RESEARCH aimed at tackling a disease which is a major killer of horses is being carried out by experts at Newmarket's Animal Health Trust.

Equine Grass Sickness (EGS) is estimated to lead to one in 200 horse deaths in Britain.

EGS was first diagnosed 100 years ago. It affects parts of the nervous system that control involuntary functions such as digestion, salivation and heart-rate and is fatal in more than 90 per cent of cases. In the worst cases death can occur in less than two days.

One of the suspected causes is a bacteria called clostridium botulinum which is related to deadly botulism.

But other factors such as stress may play a part.

The Animal Health Trust, based at Kentford, has launched the first-ever nationwide surveillance scheme with funding from The Horse Trust.

It is a collaborative project with the Universities of Edinburgh and Liverpool and the Equine Grass Sickness Fund.

Horse owners are being asked to complete questionnaires on cases going back to the year 2000 as well as current cases.

Claire Wylie, a vet who is the research assistant for the project, said: "Regularly affected premises which participate in the scheme will ultimately be invited to participate in vaccine trials.

"A detailed and accurate knowledge of this devastating disease is the key to combating it, but this can only be achieved with the absolute support of owners and veterinary surgeons who have encountered cases."

It is known that the number of cases of EGS increases dramatically between April and July.

To report any occurrence of equine grass sickness, from 2000 to the present day, contact Claire Wylie at the Animal Health Trust on (01638) 552993 extension 1241, or email claire.wylie@aht.org.uk

Further information about grass sickness and the surveillance scheme, is available at www.equinegrasssickness.co.uk where questionnaires can be viewed and downloaded.

THE WEEKLY News Buy Local campaign continues to grow.

The scheme was launched in October 2004 with the aim of informing readers of the facilities and services available on their doorstep and encouraging local people to use local businesses.

Around 100 businesses and other organisations have joined the campaign and more than 80 have been featured in the Weekly News. Businesses taking part display our logo on their door or in the window.

All sorts of businesses have agreed to support the campaign. They include beauty and hairdressing salons, electrical businesses, furnishing shops, fashion shops, cafes, a butcher, a toy shop, wine merchants, charity shops and even taxi drivers.

The local tourist information centre at Palace House and the National Horseracing Museum in the High Street are also supporting Buy Local.

Those taking part are entitled to a free photograph and article about their business. A different one is featured every week in the Weekly News.

Nigel Brookes, editor of the Weekly News, said: The campaign has been a resounding success and shows our commitment to local businesses.

The businesses already supporting Buy Local include: All Square Flooring, Hills Hire, NCC, Open Door, The Drawing Room, Corney and Barrow, Tolly's, St Nicholas Hospice, Racquets, the Frame Centre, Bren Paul's, Fancy Nails, Talking Heads, Busy Bee, Sherington's, Carousel, Moon's Toymaster, Behind the Scenes, Cartwrights, Pandora's, Heathers, Harwayes, Brides by Solo, DS Barber Shop, Outsiders, Square Deals, The Wardrobe, Eric Tennants, Ego, Judith Fisher, Goldings, Absolutely Fabulous, Clocktower Café, Cancer Research UK, Pure Beauty, Scrivens, Tanfastic, Scissorhands, ABBSolute, Sea Horse, Kitchen and Things, Super Herbs, Bouquets, Rocking Rabbit, Rhodabourne, Wendy's Hair Care, Newmarket Electrical Wholesalers, Beauty Headquarters, Chica Shoes, Bobb-In, Tindalls bookshop and newsagents, Tindalls Stationers, Tindalls Business Machines (TBM), Scratchers, Variety and Spice, Coffee and Co, Coffee and Co at Premier, Twin Dots, P & B Flooring, By Design, Window Dressing, Newmarket Paint Co, Flair Flooring, Newsbox, Anglia Gifts and Promotions, Newmarket Sports, Powters, Cheap as Chips, All Clear Glazing, Newmarket Day Centre charity shop, RSPCA charity shop, Scope charity shop, HFT charity shop, Red Velvet floral design and Salon 34.

Any locally-based business can join the scheme by simply requesting a Buy Local sticker from our office in the High Street or call the office on (01638) 662581.

Newscaster turns art critic

TELEVISION newsreader and reporter Alex Thompson has agreed to judge entries for the Turn-off prize which will be offered to the best piece of recycled art at the Barton Mill's scarecrow festival.

Organisers of the event, to be held on the weekend of June 7 and 8, are encouraging villagers to submit entries for the competition – a spoof of the Turner prize – and so far more than 25 people are taking part.

Colin Brotherton, one of the organisers of the scarecrow festival, said: "We're very pleased that Alex has agreed to be our judge. He presents Channel 4 News with Jon Snow and his mother-in-law lives in the village."

The festival has a recycling theme and coincides with national recycling week.

Second nightclubber hurt

POLICE have appealed for nightclub revellers to come forward with information after a man suffered facial injuries and bruising.

The man, in his 40s, was found with the injuries on the dancefloor at Newmarket's De Niro's night club between 1.15am and 1.30am on Saturday, May 17.

He was taken to West Suffolk Hospital, Bury St Edmunds, for treatment.

A week earlier a woman was struck by a man while sitting down in the club for no apparent reason.

Police are investigating and anyone with information about the incident should call Det Cons Claire Burgess at Newmarket CID (01284) 775100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

■ POOL PEDALLERS . . . the intrepid cyclists during their 300-mile ride CP.

Flags fly for cyclists' return

The seven parents hope to have raised nearly £5,000 towards a new swimming pool at Swaffham Prior primary school.

They arrived back this month after a three-day relay ride from the Eden Project in Cornwall.

Helen Oliver, who organised the ride, said: "When we arrived back in the village, the church bells were ringing and the children were outside waving flags.

"It was just fantastic."

The school has been unable to use its 30-year-old pool this year.

But the parents are hoping that their effort will help pay for a new one to be installed by next summer.

The money raised from the ride will be added to £10,000 which has already been raised from other events.

The school is hoping to make up the £25,000 needed for the project by applying for grants.

The other parents taking part in the ride were Tim Doe, Mandy Kingsmill, Phill Kingsmill, Graham Lingley, Adam Collier and Andy Tozer.

New season

THE new season of a Cambridge theatre group for new writing has been unveiled.

WriteOn is presenting a series of monologues and duologues on Sundays from June 1 to July 6 at Market Passage's B Bar. Shows will star local actors with two hours of new writing from 7pm. Sunday's selection includes From a Great Height by Mark Konik, Fruitcake by Robert Gill, Existence by Geoff Broad and Sick by Trevor Suthers. Tickets are £3-£4. Visit www.writeon.org.uk

Two step show

THE Geoff Bailey Dancers return to the stage at the Junction in Cambridge tomorrow and Saturday.

The company formed in the 1980s in Willingham and has performed at a host of festivals.

The latest show has two sets: the first covers human emotions, while the second half features theme tunes from film, TV and advertising.

The shows start at 7.45pm. For tickets call (01223) 511511.

Fig leaf farce

THE high concept comedy No Time For Fig Leaves is the latest production from the St John's Players.

Set in the future when all the world's men have seemingly been wiped out by a mysterious genetic mutation, it takes a hilarious turn when two survivors are discovered.

The show, at the Fulbourn Centre in Fulbourn, runs from tonight until Saturday at 7.45pm. Tickets are £7.

Twinkle-toed soap stars come dancing

SOAP stars will be twinkling their toes in Cambridge this week, as the popular renaissance of ballroom dancing continues.

EastEnders* star Sophie Lawrence is hosting dance spectacular Simply Ballroom at the Cambridge Corn Exchange on Sunday, alongside Sam Kane from Coronation Street.

It features dancing champions performing the cha cha, salsas and rumbas.

Sophie, who recently reprised her soap role as Frank Butcher's daughter, would not be drawn on whether she would make another Albert Square comeback, but is sure that ballroom is back for good having shaken off its naff image.

She said: "Strictly Come Dancing has changed ballroom dancing.

"What the show has filled is that gap for true family entertainment. When we go to theatres we have kids sitting in the front row who are four and five with their grandmother who's 85." Sophie added: "Sam and I really love it. There's beautiful costumes, wonderful dancing and lovely music.

"We've got six couples who are ballroom and Latin champions and they're absolutely fantastic."

Shows are at 3pm and 7.30pm. Tickets are £20.50-£22.50. To book call (01223) 357851.

A treasure trove of fun for all the family

By Nik Shelton

SWASHBUCKLING adventure comes to the Arts Theatre next week with the children's classic and family favourite Treasure Island.

Robert Louis Stevenson's much-loved all action adventure story has been brought to the stage in a brand new production from the Birmingham Stage Company.

The group has built a reputation for staging classic children's stories and past productions have included several Roald Dahl tales such as James and the Giant Peach and Danny the Champion of the World as well as Michael Morpurgo's Kensuke's Kingdom, Tom's Midnight Garden and The Jungle Book.

Treasure Island follows the adventures of young Jim Hawkins who discovers a treasure map in The Admiral Benbow Inn.

■ ALL ABOARD . . . the Birmingham Stage Company is bringing Robert Louis Stevenson's all action adventure yarn Treasure Island to life at the Cambridge Arts Theatre. CP.

Alongside a host of larger than life characters including Squire Trelawney and the one-legged Long John Silver they set sail to find the buried haul but secret plots and hair-raising battles ensue when they reach their destination.

Treasure Island opens on Tuesday and runs until Saturday, June 7, at 2pm and 7pm.

Tickets are priced at £12-£16.

To book call the box office on (01223) 503333.

There will be several recitals each day from Monday to Friday, June 6, at the university's Music Recital Hall on East Road and at The Junction, including world music, acoustic and jazz music and classical performances.
Anglia Ruskin World Music Ensemble will take part along with the Anglia Ruskin Jazz Orchestra and Anglia Gospel Voices.
The festival also includes drama with a double bill of performances by Anglia Contemporary Theatre, including the plays Crime Scene and Double Games at the Junction on Wednesday and Thursday next week.
Full details can be found on the events page at www.anglia.ac.uk/mpa

Zombies back on the road again

The group, led by keyboard player Rod Argent and singer Colin Blunstone, started out from St Albans but it was only across the Atlantic that tracks like She's Not There, Tell Her No and Time of the Season set the charts on fire.

Now their album Odessey and Oracle has been hailed as a lost classic and Rod and Colin have joined forces once again

The Zombies and The Yardbirds play the Corn Exchange in Cambridge on Saturday June 7.

Tickets are £19.50-£24.50. To book call (01223) 357851.

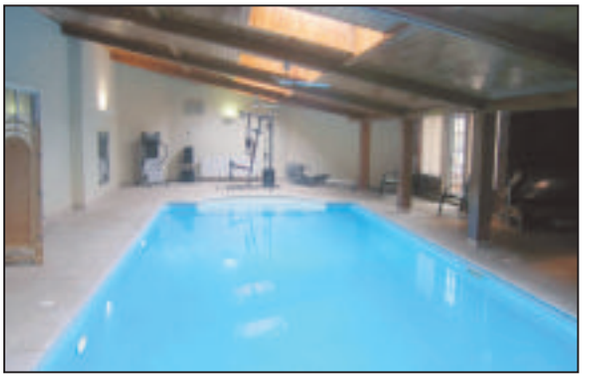
Swallow Mead Farm, Barton Mills £735,000

Januarys Countrywide of Newmarket are delighted to offer for sale this charming substantial detached 4 bedroom residence, situated in Worlington Road on the outskirts of the popular village of Barton Mills, which provides good access to the A11/A14.

Swallow Mead Farm has been much improved throughout and is well maintained by the present owners. The property offers ample and versatile accommodation including a superb large Kitchen/Breakfast Room, splendid and generous Master Suite on the ground floor, Sitting Room, Reception Room, Utility Room, Dining Room, Family Room, Drawing Room, Shower Room, together with an impressive indoor Swimming Pool, Changing Room, Sauna, Conservatory and Living Room. The first floor accommodation includes 3 further Bedrooms, Bathroom, En-Suite and Dressing Room.



Due to the generous amount of ground floor accommodation there is an ideal opportunity for purchasers wanting to work from home. This impressive property also benefits from beautiful large mature private landscaped gardens, with sunken garden and large patio areas ideal for entertaining. There is also a Double Garage and driveway providing ample parking.

We strongly recommend a viewing of this delightful residence which has an abundance of character, yet still provides all the benefits of modern living, to appreciate all of the accommodation on offer.

Range Rover Sport hits the spot

FIRST DRIVE

A 'Landie' of many talents

ADAM SWIFT

I'LL be honest – as a rule I don't like big heavy cars.

But the Range Rover Sport TDV8 is a bit different. For a start it just looks so good for a 4x4, sitting menacingly on sporty 20-inch rims. The body styling gives it a butch demeanour that is ever so appealing. With its chiselled, titanium-trimmed jaw and chunky aesthetics, it looks pumped-up and packed with adrenalin.

And, just when you thought things could get no better, those chaps at Solihull have gone and fitted an advanced, compact twin-turbo V8 diesel under the bonnet, transforming this car into something very compelling.

With the windows up it is nigh on impossible to detect any rattly noises coming from the engine, and refinement and smoothness are out of this world. It comes as no surprise that Land Rover has tuned the exhaust system to all but eliminate the usual diesel sounds. It actually sounds like a large and refined petrol unit.

The 3.6-litre V8 features two variable geometry turbochargers and a pair of intercoolers, which helps the engine to produce 272bhp and a mammoth maximum torque figure of 472lb ft. I wouldn't normally gush on about numbers but these are significant; the TDV8 producing 52lb ft more than the current Range Rover daddy, the supercharged V8 petrol.

Unless you have the deepest of pockets the diesel is the no-brainer, because while the supercharged petrol Sport will struggle to achieve 15mpg, the TDV8 happily returns more than 25mpg.

Despite the spacious interior, the Sport is based on the Discovery3 platform, so it is smaller than the Range Rover, and certainly feels more nimble. The sports leather seats provide plenty of lateral support and hug your body though the corners, which is vital as the Sport is surprisingly good at cornering. A 4x4 that is fun to drive? Most definitely yes, thanks in no small part to a tuned monocoque chassis with double wishbone suspension. Even the steering provides acceptable feedback, with a different, quicker rack. It's under braking that you feel how heavy the car is, but the huge Brembo-developed discs soon slow your momentum.

■ MULTI-TALENTED . . . the Range Rover Sport has proved to be a huge success.

Basically...

The combination of the TDV8 engine and the Range Rover Sport is a blissful marriage, and means that this model has never looked more attractive. With all the pace of the supercharged petrol version, this engine provides the performance to justify the badge as well as, at last, a Range Rover with decent range.

MOTORING

New measures may have little impact

THE Government's proposals to cut the speed limit of urban streets to 20mph are a step in the right direction – but still won't stop the majority of drivers who break road laws.

That's the reaction of Andrew McGavin, the founder of Better DrivingPlease.com, a website set up for anyone to report bad driving they see on roads.

BetterDrivingPlease has received 12,500 reports so far. Andrew says new laws such as this are good only if they are capable of being actively policed.

He said: "There is an underclass of motorists who genuinely don't fear being caught breaking traffic laws.

"They know there aren't enough traffic police to catch them speeding, driving dangerously or using a handheld mobile. They're prepared to risk driving without insurance. And they don't fear cameras because they can swap or alter their number plates.

"Setting a new limit of 20mph will only slow down law-abiding drivers. The real answer is to quadruple efforts to catch and prosecute the persistent offenders, such as some of those reported to Better Driving Please.com."

Andrew has evidence of what little effect the introduction of new road laws has had.

Fifteen months ago the law for using a handheld mobile phone changed (February 27, 2007), increasing the penalty for being caught to £60 and three points.

Yet since then reports of drivers flouting the law received by BetterDrivingPlease.com have increased, and currently stand at 2,700. Andrew added: "The Government needs to look at what is actually happening on our roads and revamp their overall enforcement policy, rather than introduce new laws which will just be ignored.

"The law is becoming law for the law-abiding, to be ignored by the 'motoring underclass'."

■ PATIENCE PLEASE . . . impatience and using a mobile can lead to danger.

Dunlop book furthers charity drive

DUNLOP has unveiled a coffee-table photobook including images from motoring and motorsport fans around the country in a celebration of driving. The tyre company appealed for budding photographers to send in their favourite photographs throughout 2007. Now the best and most emotive images have been presented in a limited edition, collectable photobook that is being sold on behalf of the Motorsport Safety Fund. Each 60-page paperback book has been signed by two-time British Touring Car Championship winner, Matt Neal and is priced at £14.99. Money raised through sales of the book will be used by the Motorsport Safety Fund to help keep the sport safe. Priced at £14.99 the book is available to buy from www.driversknow.co.uk/photobook

Learners face new questions

LEARNER drivers are to face a revised set of safety questions at the start of their practical driving test.

From July 1, candidates will have to answer updated questions that more accurately reflect the need for learners to have the skills and knowledge to be safe on the road.

The new questions will cover the use of wipers, demisters, brake lights, fog lights, head restraints, automated braking systems, warning lights and the correct operation of relevant controls and switches.

Chief driving examiner Trevor Wedge said: "The extra questions reflect the need to be able to show a basic knowledge about the various safety checks a driver should make before driving a vehicle."

The full list of questions and combinations can be downloaded from www.dsa.gov.uk

Rally will have its own unique flavour

■ HUNGRY FOR MORE . . . competitors will have to scrounge cooking oil.

CHIP FAT and cooking oil will fuel an environmentally friendly "Grease to Greece" rally later this summer.

The 30 diesel-engined vehicles – hopefully including an old burger van – will set off from a "greasy spoon" cafe in London and head for Greece.

The aim is to scrounge fuel supplies en route from restaurants and burger bars – avoiding fossil fuels at all costs.

Organiser Andy Pag, 34, from London, said: "The main aim is to clear up confusion about what you can put into diesel engines.

"The challenge is to see if it can be done by scrounging fuel en route – although the teams will be allowed to resort to biodiesel and in emergencies buy fresh cooking oil from supermarkets."

Andy said the two-week journey from the UK to Greece – which gets under way on August 16 – would be the first "fat-finding" challenge ever tried across Europe.

"The aim is to see if using waste vegetable oil for long distances is practical and feasible, and to have a bit of a laugh on the way."

Last year Andy drove a truck from the UK to Timbuktu powered by biofuel made from waste chocolate.

"Teams that enter the challenge do not have to modify their engines, but if they do, it will be easier for them to completely avoid using fossil fuels for the whole journey." he said.

The rally organisers' website, www.fatfinding.com, explains that cheap motoring is just one of the advantages of using vegetable oil. When waste oil is collected straight from the restaurant and used as fuel, it has a zero carbon footprint.

Hydraulics are ideal for C5 estate

CITROËN has released details of the estate version of its C5 – the C5 Tourer.
The recently launched C5 saloon has been gaining plaudits from the media and public and the Tourer looks to build on this promising start.
The big difference between Citroën and its rival manufacturers is that the French firm offers hydraulic suspension with its larger cars and it should really suit the estate version. The self-levelling ability, super-comfortable ride and adjustable ride height will suit those wanting to carry large loads.
The rear space is a competitive 505 litres seats up and, with the seats down, it almost reaches 1,500 litres, creating a huge amount of load space. To aid loading, the suspension can be raised or lowered as already mentioned and the tailgate can be opened electronically with a motor doing the job for you after a push of a button on the key fob. There are a number of other useful features in the Tourer from mounting hooks both in the rear and middle of the car and a boot light that doubles up as a rechargeable torch for portable light.
Offered in three trim levels – SX, VTR+ and Exclusive – the range comes with two petrol engines and four diesels offering between 108 and 205bhp and 125 and 325 lb ft of torque.
Prices range from £16,695 to £25,495.

Education

THE KING'S SCHOOL ELY
Co-educational boarding and day, 2½-18
Junior School
Part Time Teacher

The King's School Ely, founded in 970AD, comprises four co-educational sections: King's Senior School for pupils aged 13-18; King's Junior for pupils aged 7-13; King's Acremont for pupils aged 2½-7 and King's International for pupils aged 14-17. Over nine hundred and fifty pupils are taught on four sites.

At King's Ely we recognise that every pupil is unique and that each has his/her own learning style. We require for September 2008, a Permanent Part-Time Science Teacher to teach Science to three Yr 5 classes. Experience of teaching Science at Key Stage 2 is desirable.

RDL Scientific Ltd is a Clinical Research Resourcing Organisation that provides highly skilled staff to the Pharmaceutical industry. We are looking for the following professionals to join our dedicated team of Bank Staff at a hospital based Clinical Research Unit in Cambridge:

Bank Nurses and Bank Technicians - with experience in acute clinical areas such as Medicine, ITU/CCU, Theatres and Recovery to assist with monitoring the safety and wellbeing of healthy volunteers and patients who take part in clinical trials. Technicians should have experience of working at NVQ level 3 within a healthcare environment or have previous experience as a theatre technician or paramedic. Applicants for these posts must have the availability to work a minimum of 8 shifts per month mainly on weekdays Mon-Fri, on a consistent basis when requested to work. The majority of shifts offered are early and late duties but some weekend and overnight work may be available following a period of continued experience. Skills required include: use of patient monitoring equipment, recording 12 lead ECGs, blood sampling by venepuncture, good organisational skills and the ability to integrate and work well within a varied team of clinical professional staff.

Applications would also be welcomed from nurses with experience in Practice Nursing or Occupational Health Nursing to assist with the recruitment and medical screening of healthy volunteers and patients. Applicants for these posts must have availability to work a minimum of 2-3 days per week during weekdays Mon-Fri, on a consistent basis when work is available.

For all Bank Nurse and Technicians posts, a significant level of commitment is required to maintain initial training and to update knowledge within this highly regulated environment on an ongoing basis. Possession of a current BLS/ILS/ALS certificate would be advantageous

Pharmacist/ Pharmacy Coordinator - Required to co-ordinate the functions of the pharmacy area and with the preparation and dispensing of clinical trial drugs. You should be available to work between 07.30/8am and 4pm, 3 days per week, occasional out of hours and weekend cover may also be required. You should have first class documentation skills and be willing to undertake training in Good Manufacturing Procedures, Standard Operating Procedures and Good Clinical Practice. The successful candidate would be comfortable in working within a highly regulated clinical environment and should be willing to participate in self inspection, clinical compliance and regulatory audits. A registered qualification in Nursing or as a Pharmacist is required for this role and experience within a clinical trials environment would be advantageous.

Contract Physician - To work as a Clinical Pharmacology and Experimental Medicine Study Physician for 12 months in a full time contract position. Trials are conducted to ICH GCP and MHRA standards. The successful candidate will have experience in Phase I studies/Clinical Pharmacology or have a background in general medicine, a medical specialty or anaesthetics. Full, current GMC registration is required. ILS or ALS qualification is required although consideration will be given to candidates not yet certified who will commit to achieving qualification early in the job. The successful candidate will be responsible for the safety monitoring and well-being of the study participants in the clinical ward areas when required, including management and handling of medical emergencies and of safety reporting. Additional responsibilities will include contribution to protocol review, regulatory submissions, clinical data review. Clinical duties will typically include review of inclusion/exclusion criteria for study participants, iv cannulation and blood sampling, review and interpretation of safety laboratory results and of cardiac monitoring e.g. 12 lead ECG, 24 hour Holter or telemetry monitoring data. The role requires attendance at the Clinical Unit from as early as 07:30am when required and participation in out-of-hours on-call rota. Good salary and benefits package offered to the successful candidate.

FOREST HEATH DISTRICT COUNCIL

Waste Awareness Officer

Up to £23,749 pa (pay award pending)

This is an exciting opportunity for an enthusiastic, highly motivated individual to join the Waste Team and play a leading role in the delivery of the Council's Waste Management service.

You will be responsible for researching and developing waste and street scene initiatives in order to achieve the council's waste management targets. This includes developing and implementing a communications strategy for the service and engaging with all stakeholders in the district to deliver service improvements and encourage positive participation.

You will have an understanding of waste management issues but we welcome applicants that have the potential to obtain this. Due to the high degree of customer interaction, you must be able to relate well to people and communicate at all levels.

This is a varied and challenging role and we will be delighted to hear from you if you have the qualities to help shape the future of waste services in Forest Heath.

Help to keep our business moving at anglianwater

Anglian Water is geographically the largest water company in the UK. We cover 27,000 square kilometres and enough sewers to pump waste from London to Sydney and back.

Works Technician Process Controller

(Ref: WAS00429JW)

£17,992 - £23,665 pa + pension + 23 days leave + private health care

Based at Ely but to cover Cambridgeshire and Suffolk areas

This team-oriented position will see you joining our Treatment Works unit responsible for the day-to-day operation and maintenance of our plant, pump and treatment systems, ensuring that our assets perform in order to protect the aquatic environment. Operating machinery, monitoring processes and problem solving will all be part of this varied role. You'll be looking for a hands-on position where you'll feel right at home from day one. Experience from a process industry/engineering or agricultural background would be advantageous. Technically minded you'll also enjoy teamwork and be able to demonstrate that you can use your own initiative to solve problems and prioritise, and we'll provide full and ongoing training to help you to understand in detail the water treatment process.

You'll need a flexible approach to working hours as you'll be asked to cover out-of-hours calls as part of a stand-by rota, as well as some planned weekend overtime for which you will receive premium rates as standard. Due to the need to provide stand-by cover, this role would most likely suit someone living within 30 minutes from Ely Sewage Treatment Works.

Closing date: 20th June 2008.

For further information and to apply for this role, please go to www.anglianwaterjobs.co.uk Application forms can also be obtained from Resourcing, on 01480 323176 (24 Hour Answer Phone), quoting the appropriate reference.

Anglian Water values diversity and welcomes applications from all sections of the community – committed to equal opportunities.

A Great Opportunity in Pharmaceutical Research and Development

Based on the Cambridge Science Park

Mundipharma Research Ltd provides world class research services to the Mundipharma/Napp Group of independent associated pharmaceutical companies throughout Europe. With an international reputation for innovative research and development covering a range of therapeutic areas from Analgesia to Respiratory to Oncology, our multidisciplinary team of over 200 dedicated professionals are based in Cambridge (UK) and Limburg (Germany).

Administrator

to the Executive Director of European Regulatory Affairs

Short Term Contract – 1 Year

A fantastic opportunity has arisen in the European Regulatory Affairs Department for an enthusiastic and proactive individual to provide full Secretarial and Administrative support to the Executive Director of European Regulatory Affairs and the Functional Director of Regulatory Projects. This is a challenging and varied role, where your key responsibilities will include supporting the budgetary process, assisting with regulatory submissions and providing editorial support for the Department's intranet site. As well as this, you will be responsible for diary management, arranging workshops and meetings, booking travel arrangements and co-ordinating administrative work and resources for the Department.

This role also offers an opportunity to assist in the development of various projects and participate as an official representative of the Department. You will have solid secretarial and administrative experience, excellent interpersonal and communication skills, along with an ability to prioritise, multi-task and to remain calm under pressure. A good team player, your ability to make decisions and be accountable is key to your success. In return, we offer a competitive salary, contributory pension scheme, non-contractual bonus and private medical care.

Ready to be part of a successful organisation? Please send your CV and covering letter, stating your current salary package, to Alison Kelly, HR Department, Mundipharma Research Limited, Cambridge Science Park, Milton Road, Cambridge CB4 0GW or email Alison.kelly@mundipharma-rd.eu

Keys Childcare, one of the largest providers of specialist residential and education services in England, is opening its first Active8 Care facility in Lincolnshire.

This innovative service is planned to be opened by the Middle of 2008 in the Holbeach area and will offer a mobile respite service and an exciting residential social work service for the young people in our care.

Active8, whilst currently based in Anglesey operates throughout the UK. We provide individually tailored outdoor adventure activities, led by highly qualified staff. This new service planned to be named Aqua8 will incorporate tailored packages for young people giving them the experience of living between our Registered House and our own specially adapted narrow boats.

Our programmes are designed to challenge, stimulate, teach, motivate and develop young people who are in need of Emergency or Planned Respite.

If you are dynamic, fun, caring, enthusiastic, flexible and willing to work away form home and most importantly eager to work with challenging young people then this is the position for you!

As a high quality provider Keys Childcare are seeking to recruit equally high calibre staff to join our team at this exciting time and help us deliver our vision!

As such we invite applications from ambitious and suitably qualified/experienced individuals for the following positions:

Residential Care Worker - Full Time / Part Time & Bank

Previous Child Care Experience is desirable however, no experience necessary but, you must be committed to looking after children and young people in a "residential" setting, have good communication skills and an ability to work as part of a team. In addition you must be committed to training to or already have NVQ level 3 in child care.

It is desirable that applicants have a National Governing Body outdoor qualification, preferably in water sports.

In return we offer a competitive salary with an excellent benefits package with ongoing training and development.

Do you care enough to join us?

To apply or for more information contact our Recruitment Line on:

CLINICAL STUDIES OFFICER/RESEARCH NURSE

Douglas House, Cambridge
Band 6: £23,458 to £31,779 pa
37.5 hours per week - fixed term until 31st March 2010
Ref: 246-8155

Would you like to help boost research to benefit patients with Dementias, Parkinson's disease, Huntington's disease and Motor Neurone disease?

East Anglia DeNDRoN is hosted by the Norfolk & Waveney Mental Health NHS Foundation Trust and supports research studies in Dementia, Parkinson's disease, Motor Neurone disease and Huntington's disease. It builds on existing research strengths in the region and helps new centres and clinicians to become research active. The network is based on close partnership between the Universities and NHS Trusts of Norfolk, Suffolk and Cambridge.

This is an exciting opportunity for an individual with a good understanding of the research process to support patients and their carers in accessing opportunities to participate in important research studies into their disease.

As a CSO/Research Nurse you will be a member of the DeNDRoN East Anglia team. With your help we will improve the speed, quality and integration of research, and ultimately patient care. Work will involve the recruitment, education and monitoring of study patients and the collection and documentation of accurate data.

You will have a degree in a health related subject or suitable professional equivalent, together with several years experience working in an appropriate disease field or in clinical trials. We are particularly interested in applicants with demonstrable experience of cognitive assessment of patients in Memory clinics or similar healthcare settings. You will be required to collect blood samples (training in phlebotomy will be available).

Excellent communication skills are essential as is the ability to work independently and as part of the team.

This post offers opportunities for a motivated, enthusiastic individual who wishes to build on their existing experience and further develop their career. The post will require some travel throughout East Anglia and occasionally further afield.

For further information please contact Ann Luck, Network Manager on (01603) 421826/ 07770 598322 email ann.luck@nwmhp.nhs.uk or Kim Clipsham, Senior Research Nurse on (01603) 421736/07881 651439.

Closing date: 12th June 2008.

Team Administrator & Research Administrator

The Wellcome Trust Sanger Institute is a world leader in genomic research, with an expanding scientific programme dedicated to understanding gene function in health & disease.

Team Administrator - Ref: CEN1668

With the completion of the human and mouse genome sequences, attention is now turning to the functional analysis of genes in mammals. We are now seeking to appoint a team administrator who will support the senior managers for key programmes within the Institute.

The ideal candidate will be a highly motivated individual who will provide a comprehensive administrative and secretarial service to senior managers and support the delivery of the WTSI programmes' objectives. This position requires ability to multitask, manage competing priorities and keeping up with deadlines.

Previous proven experience of providing a comprehensive personal assistant/secretarial service to senior managers and a high level of confidence in communicating both in person and on the telephone with internal and external visitors and callers is essential. Proficiency in diary management, the use of office technologies such as Microsoft Office applications, the ability to organise and prioritise their own workload and the ability to develop collaborative working relationships with other team members is also essential. Experience in working in a scientific or academic environment and proficiency in Endnote is highly desirable.

Research Administrator - Ref: CEN1666

The Wellcome Trust Sanger Institute (WTSI) is a world leader in genomic research (Human Genome Project) and the characterisation of sequence variation (The SNP Consortium, HapMap project). The success of the Welcome Trust Case Control Consortium (WTCCC - http://www.wtccc.org.uk/) in discovering risk genes for seven common diseases has propelled a new exciting programme, WTCCC2, to investigate over twenty disease phenotypes by large-scale genotyping and sequencing in 120,000 patient samples.

We are seeking an experienced Research Administrator to provide high level support with the coordination of the WTCCC2 project. The position involves arranging meetings and facilitating communication between collaborators, informed management of priorities, preparing reporting material and grant/budget management.

With a degree [or equivalent] in the biological sciences, you will either have held a similar position in the research/academic sector or you will be looking to use your scientific background in a research management role. You will be a confident and accomplished communicator with well-honed influencing and negotiating skills. Exceptional organisational abilities are also called for including the capacity to synthesise large volumes of information.

This position is available for two years in the first instance and may subject to the availability of funding, be renewed for a further period or periods. Salary range for this position is £27,316 to £36,951 dependent on experience.

We are based at Hinxton, near Cambridge on a beautiful campus, we offer a comprehensive range of benefits including a final salary pension scheme and excellent on-site facilities. Further details can be found on our website http://www.sanger.ac.uk/careers/jobs/.

To apply to either of these posts, please email a covering letter, CV including two referees and current salary details, quoting the appropriate reference number to recruit@sanger.ac.uk

Or post to: Human Resources, The Wellcome Trust Sanger Institute, Genome Campus, Hinxton, Cambridge, CB10 1SA

The closing date for applications for Team Administrator CEN1668 is 20 June 2008

Blowes hot in the Fens

Blowes, the first Newmarket Joggers member to finish, clocked 1hr 20min 23sec to leave 162 runners behind him.

Keith Williams (1:30.20) was next home in 22nd while Ursula White was the seventh woman to finish in 1:37.31 and was 48th overall.

Other Joggers to compete were: 29 Neville Clarke 1:32.47, 56 Jim Withers 1:40.10, 76 Maxine Burgess 1:43.30, 94 Virginia Rushmere 1:48.23, 129 Sandie Jardine 2:02.19, 132 Miranda Paul 2:04.04, 137 Mary Marsh 2:06.31, 145 Tracey Smith 2:12.02, 153 Maxine Copland and 154 Alan Goodenough 2:20.02.

■ Newmarket Joggers are staging a 5km race a week today (7.30pm). Information and entries from Jenny O'Callaghan on 07980 897585 or Keith Williams 0787 6436048.

Maria solves her problem

The Newmarket LVA player secured the title for the first time after bouncing back from the brink of defeat in the final against Ali Martin.

And it was the time practising hitting her doubles in the weeks leading up to the final that paid dividends.

Martin was the only player to break the stranglehold of four-time champion Ali Marsh, and in a high-quality affair, she opened one leg with 152 followed by successive 140s.

O'Neill recovered from trailing 2-1 to secure a 3-2 victory with a double 20 to clinch her biggest prize in 23 years of playing darts.

"I don't normally practise before a game, it's just a couple of weeks prior I kept going round the board on the doubles," said the 38-year-old landlady of the Prince of Wales pub in Newmarket

"I hoped they would come good on the night, and they did – it was all on the last leg on the double. It paid off big time."

O'Neill's path to the final was far from easy.

She put out last year's beaten finalist Val Halbert 2-1, despite her opponent having a shot at a double in the deciding leg, and then beat Sue Bell, the resurgent county player tipped as a likely winner, 2-1 in the semi-final. SPO487153

Taj for Epsom

SIR Michael Stoute's Dee Stakes winner Tajaaweed is set to take his place in the Vodafone Derby at Epsom a week on Saturday.

After failing to make an impact on only his second start in the Racing Post Trophy as a juvenile, the Dynaformer colt returned to the fray with a bang when impressively cutting down Henry Cecil's subsequent winner Unnefer at Chester.

Angus Gold, racing manager for owner Sheikh Hamdan Al Maktoum, said: "I think he will run as long as everybody is happy with him.

"Obviously, we were thrilled last time as he did it very well at Chester and as long as everything progresses smoothly in the next 10 days, I hope we'll be there."

However, connections are to mull over whether the progressive Bronze Cannon lines up at Epsom.

The colt, owned by Anthony Oppenheimer, completed a four-timer when scoring in straightforward fashion in the Capital Spreads Handicap at Newmarket.

The victory triggered a notable response from the bookies, VC Bet slashing John Gosden's charge to 16-1 (from 33s), while William Hill made him a 20-1 shot (also from 33s).

Rated 94 for the Newmarket race, he would need to improve markedly to take his place in the Derby but is clearly on the upgrade and Hugo Lascelles, racing advisor to Oppenheimer, said: "He is a lovely little horse.

"He is not big, but has a huge heart."

Bissett, Craig lift Burwell

BURWELL showed the grit and determination against Sawston they hope will give them the platform for a Tucker Gardner Cambs and Hunts Premier League title push.

They have gone top after winning by seven wickets, skipper Mark Bissett turning the tide after an opening stand of 69 between Liam Flynn (49) and Wes Potchul (21).

Bissett finished with 4 for 61, as Sawston slipped to 186. However, Burwell slipped to 7 for 2 and were rescued by a third-wicket stand of 89 from Henry James (53 not out) and James Craig (66). Then Daniel Jones made a quick-fire unbeaten 51 to steer Burwell home to 187 for 3.

Fordham were given a rough ride by Cambridge NCI's Alex Bell and Jake Allcock and lost by two wickets.

Bell snatched 4 for 37 and Allock finished with a ruthless 5 for 5 to dismiss Fordham for 115. Ian Jellyman responded with 4 for 42 but NCI crept in at 116 for 8.

■ Matt Catley survived big appeals against Haverhill to make 65 and lead Exning to a 40-run win in Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship, Division Two.

Exning were 12 for 2 and Catley was on nought when the shouts went up for a catch behind, but he survived and linked with David Monk, who scored 63, in a total of 217. Once Scott Webb (67) and Simon Youngs – whose partnership of 106 gave Haverhill a good base – were out the innings collapsed to 177 all out. Daniel Baigent took 4 for 42 while Dave Atkinson and Ian Starling took three each.

Mildenhall captain Craig Andrews never doubted his team could overhaul Wivenhoe's 186 in Division One – and they did with six wickets in hand. Wivenhoe reached 103 without loss, but once Mildenhall made the breakthrough the next nine wickets tumbled.

A half-century from Richard Cross on the way to 187 for 4 guided Mildenhall in. Paul Pallant took six wickets, but once again the batting let down Lakenheath and they fell 33 runs short of Bury St Edmunds II in Division Three. The Lakenheath captain's haul of 6 for 43 left Bury on 194 all out, but only Rob Horrex (33) and Andy Leech (29) produced worthwhile scores in their 161.

■ The older Arab League players have stepped aside to allow the younger players to start the Oasis League.

The Kestrels, who started by beating Harriers, are top after seeing off Hawks. Sean Ward top scored in the match with 20 after player-of-the match Ronan Cambell dismissed four Hawks in the eight-run win.

■ James van de Peer lead the way with three wickets for four runs as Mildenhall's under-11s cruised to victory in the West Suffolk League.

WEST SUFFOLK LEAGUE

Under-11: Mildenhall 329 (Alex Blumfield 29, Kieran Davies 19) beat Woolpit B 207 by 122 runs.

Under-13: Woolpit 58 for 5 (Alistair Kingdom 4-1-4) lost to Mildenhall 59 for 1 (Ryan Clarke 23 not out, Cam Ramsay 14 not out) by nine wickets.

Under-15: Mildenhall 119 for 4 (Elliot Drewery 52) beat Lakenheath (Tim Milner 44, Jean Van Overmiere 2 for 0) by 27 runs. Mildenhall 120 for 2 (Alex Reynolds 76 not out) bt Woolpit 53 (Dan Moss 3 for 12, Adam White 2 for 11) by 67 runs.

Kelly bounces back to repay faith

■ GREY DAY . . . Shane Kelly wins the Yorkshire Cup on Geordieland.

A FAMILIAR face returned to racecourses last month as Shane Kelly finished serving his riding suspension imposed for passing on information for reward.

The year-long ban ended on March 28 allowing Kelly to return to the saddle after a frustrating period on the sidelines.

He said: "It was hard after finishing work in the mornings and having nothing to do in the afternoon. It took me three or four months to get used to not being at the races."

During his time off, the Irishman occupied himself by assisting Bury Road-based trainer Jeremy Noseda.

"I rode work pretty much everyday, I even rode out on Sundays," said Kelly. "In the evenings I helped put the two-year-olds through the stalls – that was the closest I got to a winner, jumping two-year-olds out of the stalls."

The support Kelly received from Noseda and fellow trainer Jamie Osborne was key in keeping him focused on returning to the track.

Kelly said: "Their support has been absolutely incredible. They said they would do what they could to support me and they've stood by their word "I'm really, really grateful for all the help that they've given me and continue to give me."

While suspended. Kelly's mind never wandered down the path of quitting the sport.

He said: "That's the easiest thing to do, just to shut up shop and head off. "If I'd been booked on a flight from Heathrow the afternoon I was suspended I might have taken it, but I'm a fighter"

This fight has allowed Kelly to come back better than ever and he gained his biggest career success two weeks ago in the Group Two Emirates Airline Yorkshire Cup on Geordieland.

Osborne's quirky grey finished bridesmaid on several occasions last season but Kelly rode a perfectly-timed race to win in the shadow of the post.

Kelly said: "Days like that don't last long enough for you to really enjoy it, but that's what you live for.

"To ride my first Group Two winner, words just can't describe it – it'll stick with me for a very long time."

Royal Ascot now beckons for the talented stayer and another attempt at the Ascot Gold Cup. "Fingers crossed that everything goes well at Ascot and I can't wait," he said.

In the two seasons before his suspension Kelly had been on course to reach at least a century of winners before injury intervened.

This time, though, he's thankful to be able to compete again and continues to strive to achieve all he can. He said: "My aim is to go out every day and ride as many winners as I can. This year, for obvious reasons, is a little more difficult.

"I'm looking forward to the competitiveness of riding again. The drive's still there, it never really went."

"If I'd been booked on a flight from Heathrow the afternoon I was suspended I might have taken it, but I'm a fighter"

Tigers are foiled by weather

MILDENHALL Fen Tigers' latest attempt to get their first Premier League points of the season was washed out on Sunday.

The home clash against Reading fell foul of the weather and Tigers now have to make the most of another home match, against Somerset on Sunday, to get off the mark before travelling to Redcar on Thursday.

All right for Jack at last

The New Astley boxer had lost all three of his previous bouts this season, each on a split decision.

GREGG AND DOUGLAS MAKE IT A LINKS DOUBLE AT GOGS

Jackie's the champ again

JACKIE Gregg clinched her second Cambs and Hunts Ladies' County Golf Association Championship title in four years at the Gog Magog club, Cambridge.

In the three-day competition, the Newmarket golfer led from start to finish to beat Janet Phipps 4&3 on the Wandlebury Course.

Gregg shot 75 and 74 to total 149 in the qualifying rounds of the event, sponsored by Ewing Associates, and Gog Magog's Phipps was second after shooting 78 and 72 for 150.

In the quarter-finals, Gregg defeated Royston's Jenny McGuigan 2&1, while Links' Caroline Agnew won 7&6 against club-mate Marcella Tuttle.

The battle of the juniors saw Links' Sarah Smith fend off Lakeside Lodge's Amy Rae 4&2, while Phipps was pushed all the way by Abbotsley's Paula Parker, winning one-up on the final hole having been pegged back after leading by three. Gregg beat McGuigan 2&1 in the semi-finals, while Phipps was one-up against Smith.

■ JACKIE GREGG . . . second county title in four years.

It was an evenly-contested final for the first nine holes, Gregg winning the second with an impressive recovery shot and Phipps hitting back at the third.

But Gregg edged in front with the first birdie of the game at the fourth and went two-up at the seventh, before Phipps reduced the arrears at the eighth.

After two halved holes, Gregg regained a two-shot advantage at the 11th, and increased her lead to three with a birdie at the 12th. It was on the 15th, after two more holes were shared, that Gregg sunk her third birdie of the match to earn a title she last won in 2005. She also won the Allen Newport Trophy for the best scratch total in qualifying.

Edie Douglas completed a Newmarket double by winning the County Plate, which was for the second group of 16 qualifiers.

She defeated Brampton Park's Mo Webster one up in the quarter-finals, while Gog Magog's Sue Orwell won 2&1 against Abbotsley's Susan Fenwick, Menzies' Bethany Peckham defeated Heydon Grange's Tina Broadley on the 19th and Menzies' Grace Eastment won 2&1 against Ely City's Laura Todd.

Peckham blazed into an early lead in the final by winning the first two holes, and a birdie at the fourth put her three up.

But the score was all square by the 12th tee, and Douglas went in front up at the 16th, and sank a 6ft putt at the 17th to clinch the title 2&1.
